QUIZ : A bit of History

The quiz interface features a central circular graphic with a gradient from yellow to red. Inside, a small black silhouette of a person stands next to a white rectangular frame containing a blue neural network diagram with nodes and arrows. To the left of this central image are four empty square answer boxes, each with a different colored border (blue, green, red, and orange). Below the first three boxes is a fourth box containing a red checkmark inside a blue square. At the bottom left is a grey bar with the 'CC BY' Creative Commons logo. At the bottom right is the 'AI4T AI FOR TEACHERS' logo. The entire interface is framed by a thick blue border.

Put the proposals in chronological order

-  Turing and the idea of a machine whose behaviour could resemble human behaviour.
-  The development of symbolic mechanisms
-  General artificial intelligence is a poorly formulated problem
-  The development of deep learning
